

Mission Statement

Catholic Charities in the Diocese of Brooklyn and Queens translates the Gospel of Jesus Christ into action by affirming the dignity and value of every person, especially the most vulnerable members of our diverse society. Catholic Charities develops effective responses to human need and joins with all people of good will in advocating for a social order which promotes justice and enhances human development.

"The ministry of Charity is reaching into the lives of families and individuals, young and old, helping them to experience that 'life matters.'"

Message from the Leadership

Dear Friends of Catholic Charities:

In the Gospel of Luke, Jesus opens His public ministry in the synagogue in Nazareth by proclaiming the passage from Isaiah: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because He has anointed me to bring glad tidings to the poor." After proclaiming the Scripture, Jesus announced, "Today this Scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing."

In presenting this Annual Report of Catholic Charities, Diocese of Brooklyn, I am pleased to inform you that today this Scripture is being fulfilled in our Diocese here in Brooklyn and Queens.

The ministry of Charity is reaching into the lives of families and individuals, young and old, helping them to experience that "life matters." In their name, I thank the donors, benefactors, the good people of our parishes, the foundations that offer support, and the partnerships with government, along with the staff and volunteers of Charities.

Asking the Lord to extend His choicest blessings upon Catholic Charities, Diocese of Brooklyn, and all whom support its mission, I am

Sincerely in Christ,

Bishop of Brooklyn

Dear Friends,

This year, Pope Francis, addressing the crisis of the migrants who lost their lives in attempting to flee across the Mediterranean said, "they are our sisters and brothers."

Here at Catholic Charities, we operate with the understanding that those we serve are not our clients, they are our sisters and brothers, and their individual lives, the lives of their families and their communities, matter. As you read through this report, you will meet your brothers and sisters who, with your generosity, are reminded daily that their lives matter through the care and quality services they receive from Catholic Charities.

I want to publicly thank the Catholic Charities Board of Trustees for their guidance and support and the members of the Boards of our subsidiary corporations, all of whom generously give of their time and talents to ensure the efforts of Catholic Charities to serve the needs of our struggling neighbors.

Finally, I would like to extend a special word of thanks to our many supporters and to our dedicated staff who daily go above and beyond in their time and service.

Sincerely,

Rev. Msgr. Alfred P. LoPinto
Chief Executive Officer

to those who cannot repay us."

For many years, Carol Delli Carpini's life was a daily struggle. With a history of multiple hospitalizations, Carol came to Catholic Charities in 2008 seeking help. At the Jackson Heights Outpatient Clinic, the personable Carol found a neighborhood facility that delivers compassionate care for a wide range of mental and emotional issues. Today, Carol is an avid cook and animal advocate who loves spending time with family and friends. She has learned to manage her symptoms in an effective manner, and has even started her own online business. "I felt like I was falling through the cracks before I came to Catholic Charities," says Carol. "Now, I've regained my trust in people and developed confidence in myself and my abilities."

Programs such as the Jackson Heights Outpatient Clinic are part of an extensive array of services for those struggling like Carol Ann. Services include daily life-skills training, assertiveness/self-advocacy training, health and employment services, medication management, rehabilitation counseling, substance abuse services, and a wealth of social and recreational activities.

For those who are seriously and persistently challenged by mental illness, Catholic Charities offers supported and transitional housing programs, including Brooklyn Supported Housing and Queens Supported Housing, which in 2014 assisted clients in receiving over $20,000 in rental funds. In addition, the Queens Community Living program increased peer involvement in various program events and prepared more than 30% of their clients to move into independent living, while Monica House received approval to transition into a scattered site program, with 10 clients transitioning into independent supported levels of housing. These intensive programs help individuals maintain their current level of care and support them in their quest to live as independently as possible.

In 2014, The New York State Office of Mental Health announced a round of service demonstration grants authorized by the Geriatric Mental Health Act. Catholic Charities received a Model 1 grant of $490,995, which will enable Catholic Charities to partner with the Joseph Addabbo Family Health Center to provide integrated physical and mental health care for individuals living in Far Rockaway. ■

When Rubi Cantor first walked through the doors of Sunset Park Early Childhood Development Center, she was a young, shy mother bringing in her oldest son. Today, she is a dynamic and knowledgeable force at Sunset Park, where she serves as Chairperson of the Parent's Committee and has watched five of her six children receive their educational start at the facility. Rubi, whose children range in age from pre-school through college, raves about the friendly staff at Sunset Park, as well as the feeling of community among the children and their parents. "Catholic Charities not only helps my children by giving them a great start, but they are helping me get my GED so that I can get a better job," says Rubi. "It is like a family here, and Catholic Charities has done so much to help me and my family."

Our Early Childhood Services offer a comprehensive array of programs at early childhood development centers, as well as access to the Catholic Charities network of services. Staff members at each facility foster the development of preschoolers in a safe environment at our Head Start, Child Care, Family Child Care and Universal Pre-K programs. In addition, more than 1,000 families, including fathers and grandparents, have received comprehensive services and referrals from our staff, including financial literacy, GED prep, ESL (English as a Second Language), resume preparation and community partner referrals.

In 2014, approximately 1.4 million nutritious meals and snacks were served to children at our facilities, where parents and community members also donated over 12,000 volunteer hours. Through the program, more than 1,000 children completed our Early Childhood School Readiness programming and transitioned to public and private elementary schools.

Early Childhood Services also offers the Montessori Teacher Training Program, which recently celebrated its 20th annual graduation ceremony. The Program was developed by the Catholic Charities Caritas Professional Development Center for Early Child Care and Education. Since 1996, the Catholic Charities Caritas Professional Development Center has trained over 380 program managers, group teachers, assistant teachers, and aides – the majority of whom remain as Montessori teachers and administrators working at Catholic Charities today. ■

"Catholic Charities is helping me realize my dream of being a math teacher." – Cristian Campos

For 23 year-old Cristian Campos, the Young Adult Internship Program (YAIP) has been life-changing. He enrolled in the program in 2013 with the goal of putting his life back on track and learning the same job readiness skills that allowed his brother to obtain full-time employment from his internship. Since pre-orientation, Cristian was determined to absorb all that he could from each workshop. After interning with the law office of Pyrros and Serres, LLC, his creativity and initiative were so impressive that his supervisor hired him to work for the company as a paralegal. More than a year later, Christian continues to serve as a role model to other youth and his experience is just one example of the success of YAIP. "Now that I'm working, I'm saving money so that I can return to college and get my degree," says Christian. "Through Catholic Charities, I'm able to strive for more in life and not give up on my dreams."

The Young Adult Internship Program is just one of the many Family Services programs offered by Catholic Charities. More than 4,000 new mothers find support, supplemental nutrition and educational services through the Women Infants Children (WIC) Programs, while a range of prevention programs help strengthen and keep families together. Both the Homebase Homelessness and Eviction Prevention for Vulnerable Adults programs averted shelter entry to over 2,800 families and individuals.

For young adults, Catholic Charities offers specialized programs that give them hope for the future, including internships, youth employment and after-school programs which are attended by more than 710 elementary school aged children every year. Families are also provided with services geared toward building self-confidence and independence, such as counseling, parenting classes, life skills training, adult literacy and job readiness training.

Through our Summer Youth Employment Program and internship programs, 860 youth between the ages of 14-24 were employed at 140 work sites throughout the city of New York. In addition, of the 352 individuals served in our Refugee Resettlement Program, over 95% gained employment and self-sufficiency within 180 days. More than 600 adults and young adults received ESL, civics and employment services. ■

A life-long barber and the father of three children, 89-year-old Salvatore Padovano was born on the Lower East Side and proudly completed military service in Korea. But after 47 years of living in his own home in East Elmhurst – and after losing his beloved wife of 51 years – Salvatore needed some help. Thankfully, Catholic Charities was there with home delivered meals. The gregarious Salvatore, who enjoys the food and proclaims that he’s “not a cook,” says he is happiest with the six weekly visits from staff members. “The people who bring the meals are so good to me,” says Salvatore. “They make my day, and it really lifts up my spirits.”

For both active and frail older adults, Catholic Charities gears programs towards helping seniors improve the quality of their lives, while also providing the support necessary so they can continue to live in their own communities. In addition to home-delivered meals and friendly visiting volunteers, our other services include senior centers, senior housing, social adult day support programs for those with dementia or Alzheimer’s disease and their families, case management programs for the homebound, depression and substance abuse screening and assistance, and transportation programs.

At the agency’s senior centers, older adults receive nutritious meals and participate in more than 10,000 programs each year, including exercise classes, entitlement and benefits counseling, computer classes, cultural activities and events, trips and transportation services to medical appointments. More than 960 seniors attended information workshops on alleviating and preventing depression.

In 2014, over 46,650 transportation rides were provided to seniors to and from medical appointments, grocery shopping and senior centers, and more than 45,000 hours of case assistance and case management were provided to seniors in need of benefits and entitlements counseling. Over 4,000 hours of Friendly Visiting were provided to the homebound elderly, while 322,225 meals were provided to seniors at our senior centers and nearly 500,000 meals were delivered to the frail homebound elderly in their homes. ■

Doreen Stack's life changed immeasurably in October 2012 when Hurricane Sandy roared ashore and destroyed her home in the Rockaways. A widow with two children, Doreen stayed in her home during the storm, climbing on tables and counters as the water levels rose. In addition, her home was extensively damaged after being hit by two boats and a water tank. Doreen's home was unlivable, and she purchased a used RV for herself and her children to live in on her property. With help from Catholic Charities Disaster Case Management Program, Doreen received needed funds from the agency, as well as access to additional funding from the American Red Cross and Unmet Needs Roundtable. With this help, Doreen and her family were able to return to their rebuilt home in April 2014. "Catholic Charities has been there for me for everything," says Doreen. "It means so much to me to be back in my home."

Since Hurricane Sandy hit the New York City shores, causing severe damage to over 25,000 homes, Catholic Charities has continued to provide assistance in the storm-battered communities. During 2014, the Catholic Charities disaster case management program assisted 757 households with over $464,000 to help with their unmet needs. No matter what the need, our neighbors find assistance at our Community Center hubs in Brooklyn and Queens, as well as at a network of 20 satellite locations. Over 17,000 people received help at the Community Centers and their satellites, with 20 food pantries distributing over one million meals.

Our social services are designed to help individuals and families move beyond emergencies to more stable and stronger home lives. More than 30 workshops, trainings and support groups were conducted for 428 participants on topics such as employment, financial literacy, women's initiatives, veteran support groups and parenting.

In 2014, more than 200 people received OSHA training in General Construction Outreach Safety, and over 1,200 local residents attended health fairs in local parishes through our partnership with Fidelis Healthcare. Our extensive services reflect the needs of the community from birth to end-of-life, with programs ranging from services for pregnant women to bereavement services for those coping with the loss of a loved one. ■

After years of struggle and hardship, today life is good for Michele Matthews, a resident of the John J. Farrell Residence at Most Holy Trinity since 2009. After struggling with alcohol and living in a shelter, the West Indies native was diagnosed in 2012 with alcohol dependence. Determined to overcome these obstacles, Michele entered the Woodhull Substance Abuse outpatient treatment program and graduated the year-long program in 2014. As of this writing, she has been sober since that time. Today, Michelle helps those who struggle with substance abuse, and works hard to create community within the residence by visiting the ill, feeding the hungry and spending time with her neighbors and staff. She has obtained her certification from the Arrive HIV/AIDS Educational Training Program, and attends Howie the Harp Adult Training Program to become a peer counselor. "Catholic Charities has given me a feeling of safety after being in the shelter system," says Michelle. "The staff members here are warm and caring, and I feel that I am understood and supported. I feel like my future is bright."

"On the streets, you are just surviving. Here, I am living."

– Michelle Matthews

At Catholic Charities Brooklyn and Queens, we believe that a safe, affordable home is essential to providing stability and identity to the most vulnerable in our society. With that in mind, the Catholic Charities Progress of Peoples Management Corporation offers a vital link to social services, instilling a sense of home, community and family for residents of senior housing, family housing and supportive housing facilities.

Residents of Catholic Charities buildings also take part in a wide range of activities and events. In 2014, residents from Our Lady of Good Counsel, Mercy Gardens and St. Joseph's, as well as some of the teenagers who volunteer for Catholic Charities OST (Out of School Time) Program, created and displayed their artwork at an Art Show in Our Lady of Good Counsel's Lobby. The show featured handmade greeting cards, photography, acrylic painting, water colors, crochet, drawing, sketches and craft boxes.

At the Catholic Charities Pierrepont House Senior Housing in Brooklyn Heights, residents celebrated the Fourth of July at their newly renovated rooftop lounge. The residents had a stunning view of the fireworks and also watched the sunset at the start of the spectacular show. Pierrepont House is a 188-unit senior housing program which provides safe, affordable housing as well as support services and opportunities for education, socialization and recreation. ■

Progress of Peoples Development Corporation

Since 1975, Catholic Charities Progress of Peoples (CCPOP) Development Corporation, the affordable housing developer of Catholic Charities Brooklyn and Queens, has served as a catalyst for growth in many neighborhoods. CCPOP transforms vacant land and buildings into affordable housing units and, as a result, transforms the lives of individuals and families. In the past 37 years, CCPOP has completed more than 3,600 units of housing, including 2,186 units of housing for low-income older adults, 1,068 units of family housing and 433 units of supportive housing for formerly homeless individuals.

CCPOP continues to renovate its developments to keep them up to date on standards and maintain a certain standard of efficiency and excellence. Currently, CCPOP is working on a major renovation project in its Caring Communities buildings, including Our Lady of Good Counsel and St. Joseph's. Construction on this project began in 2013. The total development cost of this venture is proposed at $59,600,000, and includes the renovation of 205 units of supportive housing for formerly homeless individuals and the creation of 28 new units for low income individuals in Brooklyn.

The CCPOP portfolio of affordable housing properties serves the most vulnerable of New York City, providing the highest quality housing to those most in need. Throughout the history of the organization, CCPOP has strived to create quality units using cost-efficient financing strategies. To date POP has closed on $605,434,806 in financing.

In addition, renovation work was completed on the John J. Farrell Residence at Most Holy Trinity, with 75 apartments for formerly homeless individuals in Williamsburg, Brooklyn; Mercy Gardens, which provides 78 units of supportive housing for formerly homeless women; and St. John's Bleibtrau, offering 36 units of affordable housing for low-income families. ■

Volunteer & Donate

The work of Catholic Charities Brooklyn and Queens would not be possible without the support of volunteers and donors. Please help us help those who need it most.

You can support the work of Catholic Charities Brooklyn and Queens by donating online at www.ccbq.org. If you would like to discuss a gift or bequest, please contact the Office of Development and Communications at (718) 722-6211.

The Council on Accreditation (COA) partners with human service organizations worldwide to improve service delivery outcomes by promoting accreditation standards. Catholic Charities Brooklyn and Queens is one of over 1,800 organizations worldwide to be COA-accredited.

The Better Business Bureau sets and upholds high standards for ethical marketplace behavior, and evaluates and monitors more than three million local and national businesses and charities. Catholic Charities Brooklyn and Queens is pleased that its high standards have resulted in a designation as a BBB-accredited charity.
